1. Applicant is reminded of the duty of disclosure under Rule 56. It is noted that no IDS has been filed in the subject application even though the documents filed under Rule 371 indicate that claims of similar scope to those at bar were indicated as being “X references” in an international search report.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b or e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Vest et al (5,405,004), Campbell (4,928,823), Antoniotti et al (4,320,833) or Kaplow et al (4,233,568).

The disk is recited in the claims as an intended use of the claimed storage container. No disk is claimed in combination with the claimed storage container.

thus each reference teaches an apparatus that is at least inherently capable of storing a disk in the manner claimed, although no disk may be specifically mentioned in a particular reference. Additionally, some of the references expressly teach that a disk can be accommodated or retained in some container as set forth in the statements of intended use in the claims. Note Antoniotti at Fig 1, for example. It would also have been obvious in view of any of the noted references to construct the product recited in the claims at bar, for the purpose of providing a more user friendly product.
